It embodies the philosophy of WeSchool’s Rural Management program: empathetic, tenacious, and persuasive transformational leadership.

The Sanchaar-Media club assists students in giving them practical and industry exposure in a variety of program verticals through documentaries, brief pertinent films, expert talks, and entrepreneurial talks. After seeing the videos, there is conversation focused on what was learned, what was taken away, and what was observed. Additionally, the members also post a variety of events and activities organized by the rural team and students on the Rural LinkedIn profile.

Talking Heads club, a series of guest lectures has been launched by PGDM-Rural Management (Emerging Economies), with the goal of educating the students to meet the issues they would confront in the workplace. These special input sessions prepare our students so that they are not just theoretically educated but also practically equipped, given the rapid rate of our progress and the gradual replacement of our daily lives by technologies like drones and driverless cars. Thus, it helps our students become international leaders and professionals by adopting global practices.

Book clubs foster a love of reading in a supportive setting. It helps in developing reading habits with more deep understanding and with diverse perspectives. This dynamic builds and reinforce relationships. It also makes a student more comfortable and confident in professional discussions.

Debate club helps to enhance the sectoral knowledge of students on contemporary issues. To strengthen critical thinking ability in students. To develop effective communication skills in students. Students will be able to generate coherent logical statements on a topic or issue, using secondary research. Students will be able to compare ideas, concepts, investigate and find evidence to generate and support logical statements.
